

OW58 | T-CHAIR

OLE WANSCHER

CARL HANSEN & SØN

DESCRIPTION

The distinctive expression of Danish designer Ole Wanscher's OW58 T-Chair, which has given the chair its nickname, challenges the art of the possible without compromising craftsmanship or comfort. The sculptural piece embodies both classic and modern lines to give the chair a light and elegant appearance.

PRODUCTION PROCESS

The chair's very organic shapes make working with the wood particularly time consuming, the parts of the chair are clocked on a machine, after which there are especially many hours of handwork in gluing and sanding the joints between the different parts. The cup piece / back is made of one piece of wood, which is divided in the middle and reassembled at top joints to get the same vein structure in the wood.

DESIGNER

Ole Wanscher (1903-1985) was integral to the core aesthetic and functionality of modern Danish Design. As a designer, he helped create. Both his classic and contemporary designs made him popular. Today, his modern classics are still revered for their detail and his deep respect for materials.
